1. Minutes of the 2021 Annual General Meeting
To confirm the minutes (Appendix 1).

2. Appointment of Fellows
To approve the appointment of new Fellows (Appendix 2).

Special Business

3. Amendments to College Byelaws

To confirm the amendments to the Byelaws made by the Trustee Board on 27 January 2022 (changes shown in colour and strikethrough):

(a) the replacement throughout the Byelaws of references to "Chief Operating Officer" with references to "Chief of Staff";
(b) Byelaw 32 (ii) change to 'election agent of the College's choice' and
(c) the following amendments to Byelaws 33 and 34.

Byelaw 32 (ii)

(2) If there is more than one candidate for the office of President, a ballot shall be held in which every Member or Fellow in good standing is entitled to vote. The ballot shall be conducted by an election agent of the College's choice ~~Electoral Reform Services ('ERS') (or another comparable organisation decided by the Trustee Board~~) in substantially the same manner as a ballot for the election of members of the Council. [Explanatory Note: Reference to Electoral Reform Services is now deleted as it no longer exists].

Byelaw 33

Composition of the Council

General provisions

33. The Council consists of up to 75 members, composed of the following:
(1) 32 Faculty representatives, appointed under Byelaw 34;
(2) 18 Elected members, elected under Byelaw 36;
(3) Additional members appointed by a General Meeting under Byelaw 40, or appointed by the Council under Byelaw 41;
(4) The President ex officio, so long as he or she is a member of the College;
New 33(5): The Officers of the Council as laid out under Council Standing Orders.
New 33(6): The Chair of Trustee Board and Council Trustees who are not otherwise members of Council.
(5) The Chairs of the Devolved Councils ex officio;
(6) For the year following his or her ceasing to hold the office, the immediately preceding Chair of Council ex officio, if not otherwise a member of the Council;
(7) The First5 Chair ex officio; and
(8) The Chair and Deputy-Chair of the Associates in Training Committee ex officio

[Explanatory note, Byelaw 33 Is amended to clarify the total composition of Council and bring certainty to Officers, Chair of Trustees and Council Trustees. This addresses concerns over the use of Byelaw 40 which has been used to appoint Officers and Members to positions such as Officers, Chairs of Committee or Council trustees. It was noted that seven people had been appointed under Byelaw 40 at the AGM and that there could be a potential risk that despite being elected to take up office, individuals could fail to be supported at the AGM and be blocked from doing so. The proposed amendments will necessitate a re-numbering of Byelaw 33].

Byelaw 34(1)

~~Faculty representatives comprise not less than 50% of the whole size of the Council, disregarding any casual vacancies~~. Each faculty shall be entitled to one representative on the Council. A faculty may have one additional representative in one or other (but not both) of the following circumstances:

(a) If the membership of the faculty on the immediately preceding 31March was equal to 5% or more of the whole membership of the College in the United Kingdom; or

(b) If the representative of the faculty holds a post or office in the College prescribed by the Council for this purpose.

[The first sentence is now surplus to requirements as members have control through the Byelaws of (a) the maximum number of Council members and (b) the list of members approved at general meetings. In fact, by moving toward a system where Byelaw 40 is the exception rather than a regular necessity, it provides more certainty to the membership as to the composition of Council].

4. Date of the 2022 Annual General Meeting

The Annual General Meeting will be held on Friday 18 November 2022 at RCGP, 30 Euston Square, London, NW1 2FB.

Dr Michael Mulholland FRCGP
Honorary Secretary

Appendix 1

Minutes of the 2021 Annual General Meeting of the Royal College of General Practitioners held on Friday 19 November 2021 at 14:00

The hybrid meeting also included members joining by Zoom.

The President, Professor Amanda Howe was in the chair. More than 25 College Members were present both in person and virtually and therefore a quorum was met. Notice of the meeting had been advertised from September 2021.

AGM Business

1. Welcome

The President welcomed everyone to the first face to face meeting which had taken place for two years due to the COVID-19 pandemic, together with those joining by Zoom. Professor Howe explained how the meeting would run, including arrangements for voting on College business.

Full details of the business had been included in the College website and sent to those who had registered.

Members were notified that the meeting would be audio recorded – no objections were raised.

2. Minutes of the 2021 Spring General Meeting

The minutes of the Spring General Meeting held on 14 May 2021 were proposed by Professor Helen Stokes-Lampard and seconded by Dr Victoria Tzortziou-Brown for agreement and approval.

A vote was taken and carried.

AGREED: that the minutes of the Spring General Meeting held on 14 May 2021 be approved.

3. Appointment of Fellows

Professor Howe referred to the Appendix for the Appointment of Fellows and reported that one of the names in the printed list had been taken out due to delays in the application process.

The appointment of the List of Fellows by Election (Appendix) was proposed by Professor Roger Jones and seconded by Dr Gary Howsam.

A vote was taken and carried.

AGREED: that the list of Members in the Appendix, as amended, be formally appointed as Fellows of the College.

4. Annual Report 2020-2021

The Chair of Council, Professor Martin Marshall, presented the Chair of Council's report for the year, giving a comprehensive summary of events during his second year of office. A summary of the main highlights included:

- Much of the College's activities had focused on providing support and guidance to members in the COVID19 pandemic. This included the establishment of a COVID-19 resources and educational hub (with over 1 million users);
- The pandemic had uncovered the workload crisis for GPs which has developed over a decade or more, caused by many reasons including increasing demand and the diminishing size of the workforce.
- The College had to regularly defend general practice to robustly challenge the succession of anti-GP stories. This had been proactive and constructive; running the General Practice is Open campaign to demonstrate to policy makers and patients that patients were still able to access GP care during the pandemic. The College had produced resources to enable practices to explain to patients in a simple and engaging way how to access their practice during lockdown;
- 'The future of remote consultations and patient triage' publication was launched, which set out the College's policy position on remote care. There was the launch of the 5-point action plan for recovery and at the same time, the College ran a campaign which enabled members to email their MP in support of the action plan;.
- There had been development of the programme on relationship-based care – one of the College's three-year policy and campaigns priorities;
- Statements were issued on sustaining and building on the community/public health role that general practice had played during the pandemic, for example social prescribing services connecting vulnerable patients with sources of social, practical and financial support.
- There were developments with the College's climate and sustainability policies with further details in the Annual Report. RCGP Scotland developed a Climate and Sustainability Action Plan, which outlines a range of actions which the College will be taking to achieve Net-Zero emissions by 2045;
- The delivery of the College's Black Asian and Minority Ethnic Action Plan highlighted the disproportionate impact of Covid on minority ethnic healthcare staff and patient communities and publicly called for the Government to run targeted local campaigns to address the low uptake of the Covid vaccine in minority ethnic communities.

Professor Marshall paid tribute to all those who keep the College running on a day to day basis and thanked those Officers who would be demitting office.

He ended by paying tribute to all College members – the hardworking and dedicated GPs and the practice teams who support them.

5. Report of the Trustee Board 2020-2021

The Acting Chair of Trustee Board, Dr John Chisholm, presented the Report of the Trustee Board. He begun by reminding members of the Trustee Board's responsibilities for the charitable status and finances of the College. The Board ensures that the business of the College is conducted as efficiently and effectively as possible in order to deliver its charitable objectives. It is comprised of twelve Trustees which include four lay Trustees with the remaining Trustees comprising of a mixture of Officers and Council-elected members.

Much of the Board's business during the year had been taken over by the resignation of the previous chair, Professor Nigel Mathers, in March 2021. This followed a protracted and difficult period with governance and due process over second terms of office; for this and other Officers posts. It was highlighted that good governance of an organisation is essential to its smooth operation and that during this period it was recognised that all trustees had sought to act in the best interests of the College. An SEA on the resignation of the Trustee Board Chair had been undertaken by Dr Iona Heath, former President and Michael King, a retired senior partner of one of the UK leading charity law firms in the UK, who acted as legal advisor.

The SEA highlighted the importance of learning from events and to try and draw a line. It was felt the difficulties were primarily due to the confusing constitutional documentation as well as these being too directive and didactic. This echoed a previous external report from Farrer & Co LLP that the College's constitutional documents relating to elections are confusing with a mix of different terminology being used. The changes to the College's constitutional documents at the AGM meeting start the process of making the documents easier and clearer.

Dr John Chisholm explained that as longest serving Council trustee and deputy Chair, he had been asked to take the position of Acting Chair of the Trustee Board from June 2021 and this had been approved by Council.

It was another exceptionally busy year for the Trustee Board. Having met monthly in 2020 during the pandemic and in the context of the College's financial recovery plan, in 2021 the Board met seven times. Comprehensive details were given of the Board's business which included development of its attitude to risk, with the College's Strategic Risk Register given a high priority in the Board's agenda. Other business included approval of recommendations of a working group on the Future of the College post COVID-19, consideration of details of the business plan for the implementation of the College's three-year strategy for 2020-2023: Putting our members at the heart of everything we do, and new budgetary arrangements for faculties were approved together with new arrangements for CPD delivery. The College's first-year progress in implementing the Equality Diversity and Inclusion Plan 2020-2023 was considered both by the Trustee Board and Council. Highlights during the year included the influencing work relating to COVID-19 vaccines as well as cross-College work to seek perspectives on how the College should consider all of the protected characteristics under the Equalities Act 2010 and ensure diverse representation.

Dr John Chisholm thanked all his fellow trustees for all their contributions in what had been a challenging year and paid tribute to retiring members, including two lay trustees.

6. Accounts for the year 2020-21 and Auditors' Report

The Honorary Treasurer, Dr Steve Mowle, presented the Accounts for the year ended 31 March 2021 and the Report from the Auditors therein.

Dr Mowle gave a summary of the Annual Accounts due to the late running of the meeting.

Dr Mowle highlighted the difficulties for every organisation in financial terms over the last year. The College at the end of the financial year had performed reasonably well with an operational surplus of £1.8M. However, this figure should not be related to profit and was used to pay the College's bank-loan repayments, CAPEX and the staff pension deficit. The College's overall aim is to be breakeven. This had been broadly achieved in the last financial year and would also be the aim for the next budget.

He explained that the College's examination is unique among Royal Colleges as no profit is made from this. The aim is to balance the books every three years.

Overall, the College's income had decreased £6.8m In the last financial year. This was mainly due to decreased income in the College's trading subsidiaries.

Dr Mowle referred to the sale of the College's Scotland office at 25 Queen Street, Edinburgh which had been a one off income of £1.5M.

Details were given about the College's free reserves which currently stand at £8m, £1m less than the agreed range. The Trustees have been reviewing a three year plan to restore the reserves.

Professor Amanda Howe thanked the Honorary Treasurer. The report was for noting but she asked if any Members had any comments they wished to raise based on the report.

Dr Jonathan Leach referred to the Annual Report as it had been noted that there is an omission of the President, Professor Amanda Howe, as a named member of Council from 2019-2021 and Dr Margaret McCartney as a member of the Trustee Board. The sentence noting the President as a nonvoting member in the report is incorrect. These errors would be minuted with formal notification to the Trustee Board.

Dr Terry Kemple, Severn faculty and the College's Climate Change Adviser, asked the following questions:

He began by asking if the College can take feedback on its reporting from its Climate Emergency advisory group to inform and improve its reports on sustainability in 2021/22?

Dr Mowle thanked Dr Temple and answered in the affirmative. He confirmed that feedback can be given with respect to the College's climate emergency policies and that this is in line with what the College expects to do.

Dr Kemple's next question was about each faculty's Funds. He asked if the Treasurer could explain where these funds appear in the accounts and how faculties can access their funds?

Dr Mowle responded and gave details of increased dialogue through regular meetings over the past year with Honorary Treasurers with an average of 20-26 Treasurers attending out of 31. Dr Mowle explained that the faculties are not separate entities of the College and that faculty funds have always been part of the College's cash reserves. As faculties are not separate entities, they cannot hold money independently. Due to financial pressures and in discussion with the faculties, the cash reserves for faculties had been frozen over the past 18 months. The College continued to give money to faculties and about a quarter of this had been spent in the current year. The continued dialogue with Faculty Treasurers has helped clarify the information.

The Accounts and Auditor's report for 2020 – 2021 were NOTED.

7. Auditors

The Honorary Treasurer proposed, seconded by Dr Jonathan Leach, that Crowe UK LLP be appointed as Auditors of the College until the next Annual General Meeting.

A vote was taken and carried.

Special Business

8. Amendments to College Byelaws and to the Supplemental Charter and Ordinances

It was noted that the full text of these resolutions and of the revised governing documents had been published on the College's website with the notice and were available in printed form for those present at the meeting

Dr Jonathan Leach, Honorary Secretary, introduced the changes and emphasised that while a good part of the College's governing documents were up for revision (including the Royal Charter itself), the intention behind the proposals was relatively modest. Full explanatory notes had been given to accompany the changes.

He explained that the first part of the resolution was to approve the changes to the Byelaws, which required a simple majority. These amendments had been approved by the Trustee Board at their meeting on 21 October 2021.

The confirmation of amendments to the College Byelaws were proposed by Dr Steve Mowle and seconded by Dr Paul Myres.

A vote was taken and carried by a simple majority.

AGREED: that the changes to the College Byelaws as set out in the notice be approved.

Dr Leach then gave details on the following part of the resolution to approve the changes to the Charter and Ordinances. These were interdependent and required approval by a two thirds majority. Final approval for these changes rested with the Privy Council. The resolution allowed some 'wriggle room' to respond to any final comments they make.

He referred members to the detailed notes to the meeting and put formally to the vote the resolution to amend the College Charter and adopt new Ordinances. The revised documents were set out in Annexes 2 and 3 and had been approved by the Trustee Board at their meeting on 21 October 2021.

Dr Leach hoped the changes were clear but invited members to raise any points for clarification.

Dr Bill Reith, North East Scotland faculty, raised the following points. Under Byelaw 13, 21 days notice is given of the business of a meeting. Dr Reith asked that in future, where substantial constitutional changes were proposed, greater notice be given to ensure additional time for member to digest and review documents.

Dr Jonathan Leach thanked Dr Bill Reith for his well made point and this was noted for future general meetings.

Dr Reith then referred to references in Byelaws 32 and 38(5) to the electoral organisation responsible for College elections. There was reference to the Electoral Reform Society which is no longer in existence which would need amending.

Dr Jonathan Leach thanked Dr Bill Reith for raising this and proposed that the Governance Committee would make a decision on the electoral organisation to be used by the College and the Byelaws would be amended to reflect this.

The changes to the Charter and Ordinances were proposed by Dr Mike Holmes and seconded by Dr Susi Caesar.

A vote was taken and carried by a two thirds majority.

AGREED: that the changes to the Charter and Ordinances as set out in the notice be approved.

Routine Business

9. Trustee Board

The membership of the Trustee Board for the next College year was noted.

10. Council

a) Elected members of the Council for 2021-2024

The meeting noted that Dr Susi Caesar, Dr Tajvinder Grewal, Professor Mike Holmes, Dr Uwadiae Ima-Edomwonyi, Dr Mohana Ratnapalan and Dr Victoria Tzortziou-Brown had been elected as Council Members for 2021-2024.

b) The appointment of Faculty representatives on the Council for 2021-2022

The list was noted.

c) Members of the Council appointed under Byelaw 40

Dr Leach explained that Byelaw 40 enabled people to be appointed direct to Council without being appointed by their faculty or elected by the wide membership.

It is safeguarded from abuse by being the prerogative of the members at the AGM and by the limits on the overall size of Council (currently 75) and the requirement that faculty representatives make up at least 50% of Council. Using Byelaw 40 enabled the appointment of people to Council without their being beholden to a faculty or to a constituency of members. For some roles this element of independence and of ability to look only to the general interest of the College and Council is a key component to good decision making by Council.

He proposed that the following be appointed as additional members of Council until the end of the next AGM. Professor Maureen Baker seconded the motion:

- Prof. Martin Marshall – Chair of Council
- Dr Gary Howsam – Vice Chair (External Affairs)
- Dr Michael Mulholland – Honorary Secretary
- Dr John Chisholm – Acting Chair of Trustees
- Prof. Simon Gregory – Council Trustee
- Prof Kamila Hawthorne – Council Trustee
- Dr Andrew Papanikitas – Chair of the Committee on Medical Ethics

A vote was taken and carried.

AGREED: that the above list be appointed as additional members of Council until the next AGM.

d) Other members of the Council for 2021-2022.

These were noted.
